Sun Prairie license plate cameras: short version

Independent and unofficial. Not affiliated with the City of Sun Prairie or the police department.

Last updated Nov. 10, 2026.

What is it?

Cameras that photograph license plates and keep the data for a set time.

The city has 9 now: 6 city-owned and 3 donated by Woodman's.

What is changing?

The department plans to switch from Flock to Axon in May 2027.

Flock keeps data 30 days. Axon is proposed at 14 days for a trial.

What does it cost?

Axon draft estimate: $235,389 over 10 years.

It is non-binding and expires Nov. 30.

Important dates

Nov. 10: budget work session.

Nov. 17: planned final budget approval.

Nov. 30: Axon estimate expires.

Dec. 31 and Mar. 31: Flock end dates.

What the department says

The city owns the data. No federal access.

These are statements, not contract terms. Ask for the rules in writing.

More

Full site: sunprairiealpr.netlify.app

Zack Mark: sunprairiealpr@gmail.com · 608-940-7356

Made with help from AI. Check the sources.